SERGEANTS' HARD WORK. Sixty-five Go to the Fost Office Building and Contest for Higher

Police Honors

Chief Civil Service Examines W. B. esident's Wife Dobbs, with the assistance of Acting In-spector Cartright and Captain E. O. Smith, conducted the competitive examination of police sergeants, held yesterday in .com No. 171 in the Post Office. All told fk-ere were sixty-five sergeants who participan'd in the proceedings. Every sargeant in the lot is ambitious for higher rank, and yesterday's examination was for the purpose of deciding on their ability to perform the duties of precinct commanders.

Before the examination began Mr. Dobbs told the assembled sergeants that the best they could do in the written examinations AND ETIQUETTE.

Was thirty-five per cent., and that their ultimate hope of advancement rested in the hands of the Police Commissioners. The Commissioners have the power to give any candidate the requisite percentage of the control sixty-five for good service and efficiency.

The High School difficulty is one in which the whole community thereabouts is intensely interested. Professor Edward Francis has for eight years been principal of the High School and he has resigned his position because, he says, of the opposition of four members of the School Roard, ledby the Rev. Dr. W. A. Rice. After resigning he sent a long letter to the Board, accusing Miss Jennie Pomerene and Miss Mary Graffan, teachers, of incompetency and insubordination, and of Miss Pomerene, he specifies that "she has shown inaccurate scholarship. I have a note from her in which she spells "professor" with two Fs and "billous" with two Fs. She has introduced and sold to her class books that were objectionable to at least one mother."

The charges were referred to the Committee on Feschers, consisting of Dr. Rice, J. O. Clark, J. E. Green and Martin Welles. The committee reported to the Board, a majorit, refused to accept the cusmittees on Feschers, consisting of Dr. Rice, J. O. Clark, J. E. Green and Martin Welles. The charges were groundless and favored the relection of the accused teachers for the ensuing school year. They found that the mispelled letter had been written by a pupil and that it is. "Castle of Otrante" was no tobjectipable.

The other are forward and said that it was she who objected to having her son read "The Castle of Otrante" was no tobjectipable.

The checkers now, through their lawyer, R. V. Lindaberry, brought suits for libed against Professor Francis, claiming $5,000 etc.

An extraordinary demand for copies of the "aCstle of Otranto" has been developed in Westfield, N. A mother has been accurring at what has become known as heart of the control of the has had a letter printed in the local paper objecting to the "aCstle of Otranto" upon the ground that its moral tone is bad. Now run at a speed much greater than anywhere

The professor says that the charges were in the line of his duty and were a privileged communication, made public without his knowledge or consent. The suits will come up for trial in the Supreme Court, June 25, and it will then be shown positively whether "The Castle of Otranto" is a naughty book or not.

Professor Edwards succeeds Professor Francis as principal.

Occasionally in the past girls have been so goaded by masculine incredulity as to go to the expense of forwarding animals from remote hunting regions to city taxidermists, but this is both difficult and expensive, and not nearly so independent and desirable as to do the dressing and mounting herself, thus gaining a double portion of glory.

It is best not to study taxidermy theoretically, but to take lessons for a few weeks or months with a reliable taxidermist, where, in connection with the instruction received, it is possible to see the work being done practically, by an experienced dress, hand.
